By leveraging best-in-class end-to-end marketing automation solutions, users will be able to intelligently maximize campaign effectiveness and optimize lead management.

Automated Lead Assignment

Oracle CRM On Demand automatically assigns leads to the appropriate individual every time. As business changes, leads can be re-assigned in one easy step, using rules based on territory assignments, product expertise, or other criteria. When new leads are assigned, email notifications are automatically sent to the owners in order to ensure that leads are acted upon quickly and appropriately.

Improved Lead Quality

Because a key part of the sales process is the identification of qualified leads to optimize sales representatives' valuable time, Oracle CRM On Demand provides an easy-to-use lead qualification tool. This scripting tool walks sales users through a guided questionnaire that calculates a lead score and disposition. The scripting tool allows companies to embed their lead qualification best practices right into the Oracle CRM On Demand application, to provide consistent, high-quality lead qualification with minimal training.

Oracle CRM On Demand provides a complete closed-loop solution, enabling organizations to track leads through each stage of the lead management process—from lead qualification to closed revenue. Inside sales representatives can focus on qualifying leads, while field sales representatives can focus on converting qualified leads into revenue generating opportunities. With this two-tiered lead management system, organizations can easily identify actionable leads, resulting in higher closure rates.

Accelerate Lead Conversion

Regardless of an organization's size and structure, Oracle CRM On Demand helps sales representatives rapidly convert high-potential leads into sales opportunities. Leads can be associated with a company, a contact, a campaign, or any combination of the three. Details such as lead source, product interest, and estimated close date are easy to view and update. When leads are ready to convert into a sales opportunity, Oracle CRM On Demand provides a simple conversion page that lets sales professionals insert information directly from the lead record into the new opportunity profile.
